Rodney Laney

Featured Comedian - Rodney Laney

Born and raised in Paterson, New Jersey, Rodney has always been a comedian. Even as a toddler, he would entertain at family gatherings, most of the time against his will. Laney's comedy career started capriciously in 1988. While in the Air Force, stationed at Wright Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton Ohio, he accompanied a fellow airman, an amateur comic, to a comedy club. His friend bombed, but Rod took the stage and received thunderous applause. For the next decade, he performed at open mikes, private parties, and wherever he got the chance. His professional career began in 1997 when he began performing in clubs and colleges from New York to California. He was featured at Chris Tucker's Comedy Club in Atlanta, during the Urban Comedy Festival "Laffapalooza" and Judy Carter's comedy showcase in Big Bear California. He mostly appears in Manhattan, at Comic Strip Live, Gotham, The Boston, Stand Up New York, and Caroline's comedy clubs. Some comics wait for their big break, not Rod, he is making his big break. In 2001 he acted and executive produced his first feature film "Pride & Loyalty", and in 2002, he played Willie in the comedy Tinsel Town, by Public Defender Pictures.

Don't miss his performance Monday night!
